Dr. Arnold

Could you please forward this email with the attached document to the appropriate person at Allied Behavioral Health Solutions so that I may be given a clear concise answer to my stated question in the attached PDF document? So far, I have been given circulatory, bureaucratic, doublespeak, nonsensical answers. Any citizen that poses such a question of a JCS contractor deserves an answer.

Please do not refer me directly to Allied. Jefferson County Schools is the entity that should facilitate the answer to my inquiry.

I am requesting that the respondent answer by the method prescribed in the document, in writing, to this email address. The PDF provides two possible responses that are easily understood, which are designed to yield a clear answer. I have presented a clear-cut scenario in my question that requires a clear-cut answer. Either the parents or legal guardians are informed or they are not informed in the scenario I have presented.

I eagerly await your response.

Questions Concerning Counseling of Students
By Allied Behavioral Health Solutions

If a student is being counseled by Allied Behavioral Health Solutions and the student expresses the desire to undergo NON-MEDICAL transition from his or her God-given gender to that of another gender by any of the following methods, using pronouns that are not consistent with his or her God-given gender, identifying as a gender that is not consistent with his or her God-given gender, or requesting that he or she be referred to by a name that is inconsistent with his or her God-given gender, and the student requests confidentiality, will Allied Behavioral Health Solutions inform his or her parents or legal guardian of the student's expressed desire to transition?

Please underline, highlight, circle, draw arrows, or otherwise indicate the answer to my above question using the convenient responses below and sign your name to the response so your identity can be authenticated and known.

YES, the parent will be informed.

NO, the parent will not be informed.
